Women's Voices: A Conversation with Transformative Women

This education speaker series is offered by the Living Her Legacy Historic public art/education nonprofit. This is our first segment to this series of Women's Voices: A Conversation with Transformative Women.

The Living Her Legacy nonprofit recognizes women's accomplishments to inspire girls' futures. Visit our website at www.LivingHerLegacy.org to learn about our mission details. August 30th, we unveiled our marque information window introducing our community to this historic public art exhibit coming to Old Town. When in Old Town stop by to see it on the northside of CooperSmith's Poolside Brewery.

Or you can email us with any questions or if you would like to volunteer with us: LivingHerLegacyInfo@gmail.com.

In today's program we talk with transformative women and learn about their life journeys. Several of our speakers are Legacy Honorees and all women represent women from all backgrounds. This idea was born out of my attendance at a Black Lives Matter movement in June. I left there in tears thinking about the challenges women and families encounter in life and wanted to create an opportunity for women's voices to be heard more broadly. This series live on our FB and our YouTube channel begins September 19th 2PM and runs to middle of November. Each of our education speaker series is recorded on our YouTube channel, and is LivingHerLegacy. They will all be up on YouTube by end of SEPT. All events will be on Saturday at 2PM. You will not want to miss these speaker series.

Our initial speaker series was: HerStory: Our Suffragists A Collaboration that ran in AUG ,2020.
